

Guy & Emily Smith named New WOSC President's Partners

Guy and Emily Smith are Western Oklahoma State College's newest President's Partners, but they have quite the history with the college and Western's newest president, Dr. Chad Wiginton.

The WOSC Foundation, Inc. President's Partners Program is designed to enhance educational opportunities and student learning experiences by providing necessary funding for scholarships, program funding, endowments and other development for the college. Each President's Partner pledges an annual contribution to the WOSC Foundation, Inc. of at least $1,000 to support college programs.

The Smiths moved to Altus in 2007 from Nebraska. They both worked for Western. Emily started as the assistant rodeo coach in 2008, then moved to an adjunct mathematics instructor, and finally a full-time mathematics faculty member. Guy served as the head rodeo coach from 2007 to 2017. They were overjoyed to become President's Partners this year.

"We have a great admiration for President Wiginton," Emily said. "We are excited to become a President's Partner as our way of supporting a new vision for Western. As past employees of Western, the college will always hold a special place in our hearts, and we look forward to watching it thrive under the leadership of President Wiginton. We would strongly encourage others to support Dr. Wiginton and the institution that is vital to our community in so many ways."

Guy and Emily are still very active in the Altus community. Emily works as a financial advisor with Edward Jones, and Guy is a loan officer at Stockman's Bank. They also have three children, Brayden, Taylor and Tilden.

New Western president, Dr. Chad Wiginton, said he considers Guy and Emily part of the Pioneer family.

"Guy and Emily Smith became a part of our southwest Oklahoma community in 2007 and have had a lasting impact on countless lives, many of those being students at Western Oklahoma State College," Dr. Wiginton said. "Although their careers have taken a different path, we will forever be grateful for their time on our campus and will always consider them part of our Pioneer family. The Smiths' commitment to Western remains strong, and I truly appreciate their support of me and am personally honored to have them as my very first President's Partner."

Last week, our faculty and staff worked to put together dorm welcome bags for all of the students living on campus this year.

Each year, Western employees come together and donate items for on-campus students to use throughout the year. The bags include toiletries, snacks, and school supplies.

These are made in an effort to make on-campus students feel welcome and at home, and is made in hopes to help students succeed in the classroom and in life.

The fall semester is already off to a great start at Western.
